Mayor Dixon's statement regarding the Baltimore City Fire Department's report on the Macon Street fire

"I have read and have been briefed on the reconstruction report regarding the Macon Street fire that took place over a year ago. It is my hope that we have learned from the mistakes that took place on that day and I sincerely believe our Fire Department has put measures in place to reduce the risk of a similar event happening again. We can only close the chapter on this tragedy by doing everything we can to ensure our firefighters have the best training, equipment and leadership possible. I am committed to making that a reality."
